It takes a strong will to be a real estate contrarian and buy a sizeable piece of land when the buzz is about softness in real estate prices. Yet in land, Klemm is doing significant business, particularly in large Estate Parcels. The supply is not unlimited. Klemm is on track to have the best year ever in land!

Perhaps real estate mogul Sam Zell is right to call late spring 2008 a buying opportunity for the shrewd investor willing to act as others hesitate.

Klemm just sold 75± acres of cropland in Copake, NY (Ask $975,000), and Klemm has numerous parcels under contract at upwards of $2 million a piece. The parcels are in excess of one, two and three hundred acres, and are located in Dover, Amenia and Millerton, NY as well as on the Connecticut side.

Take advantage of this late spring and summer weather and plan your tour to see magisterial settings. Klemm Real Estate offers over 5,000 acres in different sized parcels from which to choose.
